At way point 37 in Strauch the "Biker Ranch" for good food and beverage

Monschau:

a beautiful city, pearl of the Eifel. In contrast to many other German cities, its 18th century historic center was not destroyed during the Second World War. Its many half-timbered houses and slate roofs make it a town of great architectural and tourist interest. Monschau was a center of attraction for the rich weavers of Europe. The "Maison Rouge" built in 1760 is a typical example of an 18th century house inhabited by rich weavers.
